The senate committee on Puerto Rico and the Pacific islands held a long session to-day and listened to arguments for and against free trade between Puerto Rico and the United States. The Puerto Rican commission appointed by the Federal party, which recently arrived in this counfor free trade with the United States, wanted a territorial form of government, desired United States currency as the standard, and wanted a loan authorized. Most of them favored an extended suffrage and believed that under United States laws fair elections could be held. Henry Oxnard, of Nebraska, argued against free trade because of the effect it would have on the beet sugar interests. Mr. Hill, of Louisiana, representing the cane sugar growers, took the same view. Mr. Frye, of necticut, opposed free trade on account of the effect on the tobacco interests. Herbert Myrick made a general argument against free trade between the United States and Puerto Rico because of the effect it would have upon the agricultural interests of the United States. The exports from over those of 1894 of 63,374,000 francs. In 1899 over 92 per cent. of the exports were sold before leaving Paris. He was of pinion that the export trade of the United States to France was only in its infancy, and urged France and her people to buy American goods. In the speeches many approving references were made to the reciprocity treaty between the two countries and the hope of its ratification was frequently expressed. At the business meeting after the dinner a resolution was adopted, expressing hope of the early ratification of the treaty by both governments, and confidence in its tendency to increase the commercial relations of the two republics. Prof. Woodward spoke briefly on the exposition. The following officers were elected: President, Henry Peartree; vice president, George Ammant; treasurer, B. I. Shoniger; secretary, Francis Kimbel; honorary director, J. K. Gowdy.

Miss Eugenie Bazaine, Who Attended Her Dying Mother in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 20 .- Miss Eugenie Bazaine, the only daughter of the late Marshal Bazaine, of France, and Madame Bazaine, who recently died here under especially sad circumstances, is about to leave Mexico for Spain where her sole surviving brother lives. Her devotion to her mother during a long and painful illness has been a matter of much favorable comment in the high social circles. The fortunes of the Bazaines since the misfortunes of Marshal Bazaine have been romatic and full of pathetic incidents. The elder son of Marshal Bazaine recently died in Cuba and the younger son lives in Spain, preferring not to return to France where his father's memory is still the subject of bitter controversy. Miss Bazaine is a goddaughter of the Empress Eugenie for whom she is named, and it is believed the ex-Empress will take an interest in the lady now doubly orphaned.
